In Loving Memory Of Late Ms. Varduhi

I got silent, I got frozen, lost in my own depths,
Wondering why it happened, while taking each breath.
What a wonderful time was that, when we shared a laugh together,
But today in my own helplessness, I cry alone altogether.
I bade you goodbye with a hope, that you promise to meet me again, though not in reality, at least in my dreams once again.
The clock is ticking and one year has already gone,
However, a part of me still mourns.
Your teachings in my heart will stay strong,
While your memory in my soul will stay for long.

My School

I went on my school bus,
It was a big fuss,
On which seat to take,
Or flake,
I studied math,
It was a good path,
In English,
I invented Hinglish,
It's not the end of time,
But it's the end of my rhyme.

Save Us

Children, please save us, we are the lovely trees.
We balance earth's temperature,
that helps to grow many creatures.
We reduce harmful gases,
this protects living species.
We give you fruits and vegetables,
that makes you fit and healthy,
We give you wood, paper, rubber and fibre.
We protect you from various diseases,
If you destroy us, from where you get all the medicines?
Oh Children! plant more trees,
this makes our planet green.
If you have followed this message,
Please carry it forward,
to each corner of the world.
As the wise man said,
"Save trees, save life."

AI

AI has spread around
In cities and even trains!
We are letting it take over us
But it isn't the same...
We need to discuss about this topic
Because it's getting big
People see it on the surface
But do we ever think to dig?
It's taking over the world
It's taking over us
It's taking over cities
And it's making us wuss
We need to act now
Before it's too late
Computers will rule over us
Let's not take the bait.

The Scary Face

When I looked at your face
I felt scared and went for a race.
I drove the car at a fast pace
but still couldn't win the race.
My tyre got punctured and there was a blast
I pushed really hard, still couldn't go fast.
The road was vast other drivers drove past.
I changed the tyre
but the second tyre was also on fire.
Fortunately, there were two Stepneys at the back which I changed with the help of a jack.
I overtook everyone and won the race
because I looked at your scary face.

Safety Tips For Children

1. Kids should not hide in places like - almirahs, refrigerators and balconies as such spaces are not always safe.
2. Kids should not touch sockets and wires as they might cause an electric shock. They should always take help from adults.
3. Kids should always sit at the back seat of the car and always wear seat belt for their safety.
4. Kids should not lean on or push the revolving door. They might harm themselves.

Speak Up Against Bullying!

Given the times that we live in, we all need to be empowered with information on certain issues which children face in their growing years in order to be able to best support their well-being. This article aims to touch upon some of these issues and give you some concrete action points in case you child faces a similar situation.

What is bullying? Bullying can take many forms in the growing years and it must be taken seriously and addressed immediately so that the child feels safe in his or her environment. Bullying can be name calling, teasing, excluding or singling out a child. Bullying can take place in school, on the bus, in the home environment or in the neighbourhood park. In case a child is facing this, the first thing to tell them is to involve an adult. They must speak to their teacher about this if they are in school. In case they are not comfortable talking to their teacher for any reason we also have a mentor teacher who has been assigned to all children and he or she could be a point of contact. In case they are still not comfortable they must speak to their parents at home who can then alert the teachers. Many children feel that not speaking about bullying will make it go away. As responsible adults we must always let them know that 'Speaking up' is the most important action that is required from their side.

Once we are alerted of the situation we must keep a close eye on the children involved. Speaking to the children separately and counselling them to ensure that these actions are not repeated are ways to curb this social malady. We can also address these issues separately with the whole class through stories, puppet shows, art and other creative mediums. Even in the home environment talking to children about instances where you may have faced bullying or teasing and how you have dealt with this tends to give them confidence and normalise things.

Another form of bullying that has become a part of our lives is cyber bullying. This is very relevant for older children once they start using social media and they must be made aware of the different types of ways that others can engage with them to make them feel uncomfortable about themselves.

The most important thing is to keep an open channel of communication and instil in them that they need to speak up and not stand for bullying!

Adventure On Seven Seas

Once upon a time there lived a girl named Messy and a boy named Pickle. Messy was named so because her hair was always in a mess, and Pickle loved to eat mango pickle. They both were clowns. They loved to be in the forest where Messy would sing a song and Pickle would dance. Above everything they both loved to tell jokes.

One day while they were holidaying with their family, they made a map and sang together. "We will sail the seven seas".

Soon there came a big thunderstorm. "Whoosh".

Their parents got blown away in the thunderstorm and landed in an army ship.

As Messy and Pickle were worried about their parents, they came to rescue them. But the army threw Messy and Pickle out of the ship. So, they decided to help their parents. They decided to be risk-takers and fight the strong army, in order to save their parents. After a lot of hard work, Messy and Pickle's family won the fight. Finally, they saved their parents and went back home. We should always respect and support our parents wherever they are.

Friends Are Like Rainbow

I have so many friends and they are like different colours of the rainbow. Some of them are:

- Helpful
- Caring
- Naughty
- Funny
- Kind
- Sleepy
- Angry

But I love them all because they are my friends. We play together and sometimes we fight as well, but we soon forgive each other. Friendship makes our life fun.

Health And Fruits & Vegetables

Fruits and vegetables are a rich source of vitamins, minerals, and electrolytes. These are excellent sources of fibre too. Phytochemicals present in fruits and vegetables, act as antioxidants and anti-inflammatory. Fibre content in fruits and vegetables, help maintain healthy gut by preventing constipation and other digestive problems. It is also linked to lower the incidence of heart disease and obesity. A few of the fruits and vegetables, good for our health include:-

Sweet potato, Red pepper, Broccoli, Leafy green vegetables, Tomatoes, Avocados, Blueberry, Raspberry, Bananas, Cherries, Oranges, Papaya etc.

The Power Of Compassion: A Lesson For Young Hearts

Compassion is a fascinating term with special meaning and special place in our lives. It's like a superpower that we all have, especially young students. Caring for others and demonstrating kindness and understanding while someone is going through a difficult period are examples of compassion.

Consider a world where everyone is compassionate. It would be a world filled with tenderness, affection, and understanding. Compassion begins with tiny acts of kindness, something you can perform every day.

1. Mentoring a Friend: If you notice a friend struggling with a task or feeling down, give your assistance and support. Simple words like "Is there anything I can do to help you?" may go a long way.

2. Sharing is Caring: A terrific approach to exhibit compassion is to share your toys, books, or food with others. It makes people happy and cherished.

3. Listen with Your Heart: Sometimes all someone needs is someone to listen to. When a buddy is distressed, be available to listen to their concerns. It's an effective method to demonstrate your concern.

4. Speak Out Against Bullying: Don't be a bystander if you notice someone being bullied. Speak out for the individual who is being abused and inform a trusted adult. That is compassion at work.

5. Involve Everyone: Try to incorporate all your classmates in games and activities. Nobody should ever feel excluded.

6. Helping the Environment: Compassion is not only for individuals; it is also for the world. Picking up trash, saving water, and cleaning up your own classrooms.

7. Be Kind to Yourself: Remember that compassion begins with yourself. Be kind with yourself, forgive yourself, and love yourself.

When you practise compassion, you cause a chain reaction. Your compassion motivates others to be nice as well. It's like a positive chain reaction.

Compassion improves the state of the planet. It allows us to connect with people and form lasting friendships. So, remember to constantly put on your compassion cape and promote kindness wherever you go. Your tiny acts of compassion have the potential to make a significant difference in the world.

Finally, compassion is more than just a phrase; it is a magnificent way of life. You have the perfect chance as young pupils to accept and cultivate this gift. So, fill your hearts with compassion and see how it changes your world into a brighter, happier, and more loving one.

A Happy Morning

Rise up and shine in the morning,
It's a brand-new day!
So, let's jump in joy and have fun today.
Oh! What's the time?
Oh! What's the time?
The clock says,
"It's time for breakfast",
So, let's hop on our feet
And let's get going to start a new day.

Biscoff Mango Srikhand

I tried my hands on a perfect summer fusion desert called Biscoff Mango Srikhand. It is a very refreshing Indian desert. Biscoff mango srikhand is crunchy, creamy, sweet and full of nutrition.

Ingredients –

mango pulp – 2 medium sized mangoes hung curd – 3 cups.

powdered sugar – ½ cup chopped nuts -1 /2 cup.

green cardamom crushed – 4 to 5.

saffron strands – 8-10 (soaked in a spoon of milk)

biscuits of your choice – 10-15

unsalted butter – 2 spoons

Fruit Jam of your choice (Optional)

Method –

1. Take hung curd in a bowl.
2. Add Mango puree in the hung curd and give it a good whisk. Mix till you get a smooth paste.
3. Add sugar, cardamom powder, saffron milk and mix again
4. In a separate bowl add powdered biscuit and butter.
5. Take crushed biscuit mixture and make a layer in the serving bowl. Now add a layer of fruit Jam.
6. Once your crunchy base is ready add srikhand and garnish it with chopped nuts of your choice.
7. Enjoy!!

My Bizkid Education Experience

I was keen to learn the value for money in my life, so my mother made me join this MBA course for kids. MBA stands for master's in business administration. During this course I came across a lot of new topics like inflation, investment, savings and budgeting. I not only understood their meaning but also their importance in our lives. Budgeting is to know where to spend and how to spend. It helps me in managing my money in an efficient way. I also got to know about mutual funds and fixed deposits where we can invest and save our money. How to deposit cash in a bank and fill up cheques excited me the most. Now I know how important it is to use our money wisely. I have stopped wasting money. I have also started saving my pocket money with the help of my parents.

My Visit To The Zoo

Once when I went to the zoo, I saw a tiger. It was busy eating meat. Then I saw a Giraffe. It was eating some leaves. Later I saw an elephant. It was busy filling water in its trunk and showering his back with it. Wow! What fun it would be to have this kind of shower. When I grow up, I will sit on an elephant's back and have that shower for sure.

Letter From A Pal

Hello Friends!

Do you know what's super cool?

Our soil!

Yes, it's not just dirt. Soil is like a big, brown blanket that helps plants grow big and strong.

But guess what? Our soil needs our help to stay healthy.

Here are some tips to help soil help us.

1. Don't Waste Food: we throw away food, it rots and ultimately leads to climate change. Let's eat our veggies and fruits so we don't waste food.
2. Use Less Plastic: Plastic makes the soil sick if we throw it away. We can use fewer plastic bags and bottles by using reusable ones.
3. Plant More Trees: Trees and flowers make the soil happy! They give it good vitamins and keep it from getting dry and sad.
4. Make a Compost: We can collect food scraps like peels and eggshells to make compost. It's like superfood for the soil!

Remember, the soil is like a big friend to plants, animals, and us!

Let's do our part to keep it healthy and happy.

The Two Owls

Once there were two owl friends Charlie and Delphie. As they sat on the branch of a mango tree, Charlie asked Delphie, "Shall we go to the zoo?" Delphie agreed and so the two owls went to the zoo. There they saw a white tiger, an elephant, a giraffe, and many more animals. After some time, the two owl friends decided to rest on an apple tree. They chatted and ate apples. But then the worst thing happened, a leopard tried to pounce on them. The two owl friends were frightened and quickly flew towards a banana tree. They turned around to find that the leopard was no longer chasing them. They were relieved at last. Then Delphie told Charlie, "Let's go back to our mango tree, we had enough adventure for today." Charlie agreed and so the two owl friends held hands and reached back safely.

Jackson

Jackson was the best snowboarder in the country. He was very popular as he always won snowboarding tournaments. Since he liked to stay away from noise, he decided to live far away from SKI town. Initially, at a young age, he used to play badminton. One day he went snowboarding and changed his mind to become a snowboarder professionally. At fifteen, he became an expert at snowboarding, and regular practise made him the world champion. After winning several tournaments of snowboarding, he returned to his house with the winning medal but noticed that his house was damaged because of heat waves. He was very sad and had to walk miles to find shelter. He found a shelter finally and stayed for the night. He was so tired that he slept for the whole night and day. He woke up after two days and ate some snacks. Even though he was sad and missed his home, he started practising snowboarding once again. He wanted to go back to his house in the town, which had burned. With courage and bravery, he decided to return to the town and help people rebuild their houses with his own money. He used all his money, which he won in the next snowboarding competition, to help people. The whole town became one family, lived happily, and the town was ever so beautiful.

A Day At The Zoo

Once upon a time there lived two children named Sia and Ria. They both loved animals. They wanted to be zoologists. One day, in school, their teacher told them that they would go to the zoo the next day. Then the teacher started to tell them the rules of the zoo. She told them they must be quiet, they must not bring food, and wherever they went, they had to tell the teacher. Then the time came to go back home. Ria and Sia were very excited about the zoo. As soon as they reached home, they changed and sat for lunch. While eating, the kids told their parents every detail regarding their zoo excursion. Finally, the next day came. Sia and Ria got up early and got ready for school. Then their father drove them to school by car. The kids entered the school in excitement. Soon they reached their classroom and waited patiently for other students. After waiting for all the students to reach school the time came for them to board their school buses. After a while they reached the zoo. Then the teacher revised the rules and distributed the tickets. As soon as they entered the zoo, they were shocked to see the way people were teasing the animals and were throwing garbage around. Then Ria whispered into Sia's ears that they should report the incidents to the animal experts. The experts would then tell people not to harm the animals. Then Sia said, "First let's ask for permission from our teacher." Sia and Ria told the plan to their teacher. Their teacher said "Good idea! You can surely do that." Then Ria and Sia told the plan to the animal experts. The experts said "Good idea! We will do it right now in front of you." Then the animal experts came to the rescue and said "Littering around can harm the animals as they might eat the litter and get ill. Teasing animals can make the animals aggressive and they can go out of control." The people obeyed them. Since then, there has been no littering at the zoo and Sia and Ria got an award for being protectors of nature.

Graphic Design And Designers

Hey there, future graphic design wizards! Imagine you've got this super cool box full of magical colours, the kind that can turn anything into a masterpiece! Graphic design is like using these superpowers to make things look so awesome! It's not just about pictures; it's about telling stories without using big old words.

Imagine, what story do you want to tell? Maybe it's about your favourite animals, a wild adventure, or the coolest day. Let your imagination go wild and make your very own graphic design masterpiece!

So, little artists, graphic design is all about having a blast with colours, shapes, and the art of telling stories without saying a word. You can be a graphic designer by creating your own colourful world on paper or even on a computer. Grab your crayons, markers, or coloured pencils, and let's get this magical party started! Graphic designers are like colour wizards – they choose just the right shades to make you feel happy, excited, or relax. It's like painting a masterpiece, but here's the twist – it's all happening on a computer! How cool is that? It's like having a never-ending canvas of awesomeness!

Graphic designers are basically modern-day wizards, but instead of casting spells, they use their creative magic to make things look super cool. And guess what? You can be a wizard too!

Unleash your creativity, and who knows, maybe one day you'll be the superhero behind the designs everyone loves! Happy designing, magical creators!

Alfred Nobel- The Creator Of The Nobel Prize

On 21st October 1833 Stockholm Sweden, a new baby boy was born named Alfred Nobel. Alfred was an intelligent child, but he missed school due to ill health and poverty because of his father being bankrupt. At the age of nine, he had to move to Russia. Fortunately, they were employed for making weapons for the Russian army, but Alfred was not satisfied as he disliked wars. He expressed his feelings by poetry. Later, his father told him not to write poems and sent him to Paris to become a chemical engineer. There Alfred met a man named Ascanio Sobrero who made Nitroglycerin an explosive liquid. Alfred made it into a paste and invented dynamite. Alfred was worried about how dynamite could take away many lives. He wanted a world of peace. Alfred wrote about a prize which had six different topics to compete on, Physics, Chemistry, Peace, Medicine, Economics, and Physiology and named it 'Nobel prize'. Sadly on 10th of December, in San Remo, Italy Alfred Nobel eventually passed away due to a stroke.

Did you know that in the year 2023, there were eleven winners of the Nobel prize? Also, the Nobel prize has been won by many Indians which includes people with Indian citizenship and also people of Indian origin but different citizenships. Mother Teresa [Anjezë Gonxhe Bojaxhiu], Amartya Sen, Kailash Satyarthi and Abhijit Bannerjee are some of the examples.

My Enviromental Dream

Living in the heart of a large bustling city my dreams were always about a being in a lush green tropical rainforest of the Amazon. It would be a leafy paradise of trees, as tall as skyscrapers with howler monkeys screeching and jumping from branch to branch. A beautiful greenish light filtering down to the forest floor through the varied layers of the forest would be seen. The lianas and creepers hanging towards the forest floors would meet the tall ferns. There would be an earthy smell just like one during the monsoon rains. The roots called buttress roots above the floor of the forest would support the tall trees. Through the forest would be heard the chirping of crickets, croaking of frogs and a distant waterfall. I would catch a glimpse of the mighty Amazon flowing towards the Atlantic Ocean. The beauty of the rainforest would be so mesmerizing that I would never want to wake up. But, in reality, as I walked through the forest, the scene slowly changed. The trees were dying slowly- where it was once green, there was vast empty space. Man was cutting down trees which were so full of life; they now lay lifeless and there was a strange emptiness – bird and animal life had disappeared. One could just see logs instead of trees. Roads had been built leading to ranches, towns/cities and industries. At a distance, forest fire could be seen. My beautiful dream had been shattered by the greed of us humans – now there was only climate change, drought and forest fires. At present, the 'lungs of the earth'- the Amazon rain forests are slowly dying, and these rainforests are the ones which maintain the water cycle and support the tribes of the Yanomami who are losing their homeland. What can we do to help recycle, reduce and reuse our natural resources?

Let's pledge to heal our Earth and turn my 'Dream Land' into reality.

Emotions can be expressed in different forms such as art, music, dance and drama.

Expressing our emotions through art, helps expand our minds, show our feelings and destress ourselves. Drawing, painting, music, dance, drama and yoga can help us reflect different emotions. I convey my emotions through drawing and have learnt that through various colours and art forms I can show how I am feeling.

A Day At The National Craft Museum

I want to tell you about the awesome day I had, when our school took our class to the National Craft Museum; it was informative and fun filled.

Our bright yellow school bus took me and my dear friends, along with our teachers to this beautiful building established in 1956, and which is now being managed by the Ministry of Textiles, Government of India.

As we entered, we saw giant wooden doors. Inside, there were so many amazing things to see. I felt like I was in a wonderland made of colours, art, and shapes. We saw people presenting cultural dance forms and playing different musical instruments.

As we went ahead, we entered a gallery that exhibited India's versatile cultural and crafts history. Just like a rainbow, it was full of bright and colourful paintings and pictures. My favourite part of the museum was looking at different masks made of steel, wood, rubber, and plastic.

At present, this beautiful museum holds a variety of rare and unique pieces reflecting the tradition of India through painting, embroidery, textiles, sculptures, crafts of clay, stone, and wood.

I had such a fantastic time at the Craft Museum that I can't wait to revisit it again!

This poem is all about how we celebrate Durga Puja. Dressing up, Pandal hopping, indulging in festive food and immersing ourselves in various cultural activities fill up the six days of celebration!

English Translation

Goddess Durga has come after a year,
We will have a lot of fun,
We will sing and enjoy,
There will be laughter in the puja pandal,
We will eat chop cutlet, biryani, fish fry, rasgulla, sweets and sweet curds.
We will wear new clothes every day and give divine offerings in the Goddess's feet.
We will entertain guests.
On the day of the immersion, we will feel sad to say goodbye to the Goddess.
We will chant together "Next year the festivities will come again, Auspicious victory"

Celebrations in Early Years

Emma's Birthday Party

The students of Pre- Nursery inquired about one of the emotional expressions - 'surprised' under the theme 'How We Express Ourselves. The students enhanced their communication skills by listening to a story and reflecting on their understanding. Further, they enhanced their thinking skills by planning a surprise party for their friend's birthday. The students were excited to make buntings, hats, and balloons to decorate a corner of the classroom and enhance their fine motor skills. Later they enjoyed decorating and eating the cake and also dancing and singing with their friends.

Crunchy Munchy Cafe

A kitchen is a learning lab for children that can involve all their senses. Kneading, tossing, pouring, smelling, cutting, and tasting foods are sensory experiences making learning full of fun. To foster and inculcate these senses our Kindergartners created a 'Crunchy Munchy Cafe' and became little chefs. They invited the PYP teachers to eat the sumptuous food. They made delicious snacks including corn chaat, chocolate popsicles, lemonade, bhel puri, canapes, and sandwiches. Our young learners learnt life skills by practicing basic math skills such as counting, weighing, measuring, and tracking time; they also gained social skills by working together and communicating in the kitchen. They created and crafted menus for their cafe, did fireless cooking, and became young servers which helped them understand the roles and responsibilities of different people who work in a café/restaurant. It was an enriching learning engagement, nurturing agency and many PYP attributes and skills.

REFLECTIONS OF OUR PYP GRADUATES

My journey in PYP has been amazing. I have learned new topics and developed new skills. I have explored a lot of things with my teachers. As far as my achievements go, I have a spelling bee certificate, and MUN certificate. I have a very special memory of grade one. I still remember we always had spell checks and if I did not get the words correct, I would go to the corner and cry. I also remember in grade one we went to the socks factory and got socks in return. I still have those with me. In the fifth grade when we went to Ranthambore, we explored a lot of new things like a safari, visiting a local crafts museum. That was the best trip I had in my PYP years.

Vaani Gulati
PYP 5 A

My PYP years were amiable. In grade one I was usually shy, but my peers and teachers adored me, and I improved my social and communication skills. When I was in grade 2, online school started which was sad, but I improved my inquiry skills by inquiring into the topics we had learnt about. Grade 3 was also online but we did come to school once. In PYP 4 we had fun and learnt a lot, so I improved my thinking skills. PYP 5 was good too as we went to Ranthambore, and I improved my self-management skills.

My journey through PYP helped me learn a lot. I learnt how to read, write, draw, and much more. This might not be my first school, but I learnt a lot of things. My teachers encouraged me and taught me many things. All the teachers I have met have been very helpful and kind to students. This is the best school, and I am proud to be one of its students.

My journey through PYP years has been fantastic! I have learnt so much and made many friends. I developed my social skills and thinking skills. PYP taught me that there is no point in learning unless I implement it in my life. I learnt that learning is not just about reading and writing but it is about so much more like life skills, leadership qualities, and IB learner profile. During my PYP journey I got to explore, interact and learn.

In the PYP years I learned and experienced new things. It was so good to have friends and teachers all around me to support me and love me. I feel so happy when it comes to friendship and teacher's love. I developed many skills like writing, reading, social, communication and thinking. PYP brings me a new experience which I never had before. I love the Primary Years Programme. Thanks to it, I learnt so many things.

MY PYP JOURNEY.

With happy eyes and a big smile,
I went to Nursery; it was fun all the while.
Learning ABCs and counting too.

Next was Kindergarten, where adventures grew.
Teachers were our guide so kind,
Painting, stories, and games in mind.

We moved to PYP 1 to learn some more,
friendships blossomed and lessons learnt
Our sentences now had proper tenses.

But then came COVID, closing the door.
We learned from screens, no school in sight,
It was a big change, not feeling quite right.
But we stayed strong, we did not fall,
Learning online, we stood tall and all.

PYP 2 we were introduced to History which was initially quite a mystery.
Multiplication, Division and many more
Were the concepts, we conquered them all.
Online PPT, and teams calls
Made us seem like we were a master of all.

PYP 3 began with screens aglow,
But soon, sunshine began to show.
Back in class, with masks and sanitized hands,
Our classroom journey was back again.

Stories we wrote, our imaginations soared,
Fourth grade came, posters we adored.
Portfolios made, our work on display,
Learning fractions in a fun new way.

Adventures end, as time flies by,
Fifth grade's here, we're moving high,
Operations, fractions in the sky.
Games we made, oh what fun,
Attractions created, for everyone!
Winter break, it came so fast,
Adventures ahead, they're sure to last.
What's next? Oh, who can say, excitement's brewing, every day!

My time in primary school was a big change. I learned a lot to become a better person because of my teachers. They were really nice and helped me love learning. In the beginning, I learned simple things, and as time went on, I tackled harder stuff. Each lesson was like a piece of a puzzle making me smarter. The nurturing environment provided by my teacher has played an important role in shaping my character and instilling a passion for learning. It wasn't just about books; I also made great friends and did cool activities that made me a better person all-around. I am grateful for the guidance and support that helped me to be the student that I am today.

My journey in the PYP years has been very inspiring. The PYP has helped me become an open minded, caring and resilient person. We have talked about the IB learner profile attributes and approaches to learning- skills which have helped me a lot in my life. The teachers here encouraged us to develop our, social mental and creative skills using the latest concepts and techniques. I really enjoyed the mentor-mentee passion project. I have made many valuable friends during this journey, most importantly, I have developed my communication and research skills in my entire journey of PYP. It was a wonderful experience.

PYP in Genesis Global School was a great experience. When I first joined the school, I did not know how it was going to be. But after a few months of being in the school, I understood how things went. I made some good friends, found my favourite subject, and overall had a good time. I did have a few hard times, like some hard lessons, or some not-so-good attempts at lessons, but I eventually figured those out too. In summary, I had a great time in PYP, and am looking forward to CBSE.

PYP was a journey of my life which helped me be this mature, confident girl. It helped me open the door which led me to myself. For you, PYP must be pre nursery – 5th grade but for me it was my journey of the early stages of my life. I started in nursery with the thought of learning and friendship and that thought became my goal. I met various teachers and loved each one of them. Various opportunities and experiences like extempore, Model United Nations, Beauty and the Beast enhanced many skills like research, creative, social, communication, self and time management. But the skills that I enhanced the most were leadership, communication, speaking and self- management skills. I look forward to MYP or CBSE but they cannot be as good as PYP.

I had an awesome journey at school starting from playing and learning lots of fun things in KG. Then, as I grew to grade 1, I started understanding words and numbers and more exciting games. Grade 2 was super cool because I dived much into UOI, made English sentences and started making friends around me. In Grade 3, I learned about history and amazing places around the world. Grade 4 made me think harder. I solved puzzles, and created amazing art. But Grade 5 was the best since all of us got to be leaders, researchers, and explorers. It was like taking charge of our own learning. My PYP journey was a magical adventure, full of friends, fun and fantastic discoveries.

Eera Sharma

PYP was an amazing experience with its difficulties, twists and turns each leading all of us to a very different experience and beginning of new friendships. It was not only about the experiences and fun but also the learning we achieved which was only due to our hardworking teachers, staff and school. I would like to also thank the school for rewarding us with opportunities and resources we can find nowhere else. I am sure once we graduate to MYP or CBSE we all are going to miss PYP and it will remain high up in our list of memories. Thank you PYP for the memories.

During the six to seven in the PYP years, I have faced many challenges and have overcome them. From Nursery to Grade 5, I have become stronger than I ever was. Thanks to all the teachers and friends who were with me through thick and thin. I improved myself and gave my best efforts to each task I had been given. I remember having a tough time during the pandemic, staying in lockdown. I remember making bad and good memories but, I never remember giving up. I will always remember the time, fun and the memories I made, although, I still have a bigger story to tell.

My journey with Genesis Global school started when I was in the third grade. The subjects and vocabulary/ terminology weren't that familiar. At the beginning I had no friends, but the opportunities to work in groups helped me enhance my communication skills and soon I had many. In the fourth grade I had a lot of fun. I learned a lot about the natural problems impacting the environment. We did a lot of projects and activities which were so much fun, and we learnt so much through them. Now I am in fifth grade where I have a new teacher and new classmates. I am learning a lot and having lots of fun. I learned many new things like making an app, and more. My experience in PYP has been great.

PYP was and is one of the most important phases of my education. It gave me a strong base to start my education. As I moved to higher grades research was done more often and learning became fun. The teachers were most supportive and helpful. No matter how hard I found something, my teachers were always there to help me. I used to think that we can't have fun and learn together but PYP proved me wrong.

My PYP years gave me the most important lessons for life, love, care, education and time. PYP gave me friends and memories for life.

My PYP journey started when I was just four years old and I can't believe that it's been six years. Through my journey, I have been encouraged by my teachers and parents to work on IB Learner attributes. I have worked to the best of my ability on them, specifically on being a caring person. I am thankful to have wonderful teachers for the last six years, who have always motivated me to keep trying and excel in whatever I do. I have made some great friends who have been with me since the pre-nursery. And finally, I have learned so many subjects and topics within them in the PYP. I also found and got an opportunity to follow my interest which is gymnastics. PYP was wonderful, I am excited about MYP next year.

My PYP journey was incredible. Though, I joined the school when I was in grade 5, still my grade 5 journey was awesome. We did many units in many different subjects. We did many activities and we also had lots of fun. The WOW moment was MUN (Model United Nations) it was great fun. We got to know about different countries from our peers and we also talked about our country to our peers. It was incredible! We also went to many trips like Ranthambhore and Purana Quila. It was adventurous and exciting. There were also many assemblies for different festivals. There were many competitions like India Spelling Bee and many more. My journey was amazing - Thank You Genesis Global School for an entertaining journey.

My PYP journey,
 is filled with twists and turns.
 When I was 4,
 I created a roar.
 Then I joined the nursery,
 Where it was a mystery
 Who was the best it was,
 And of all of this, I was the cause
 Next, I went to KG,
 Kids over there were amazing
 The food was good and nice,
 Ice cream cakes were a paradise.
 When I moved to 1,
 Over there I was not allowed to make a toy gun.
 2 was fantastic,
 However, because of the pandemic, it was tragic.
 In 3,4,5 I was never shy,
 to improve myself I would start to try.
 Education was superb,
 I learnt what are creepers, climbers, trees and herbs.
 My primary years were beautiful,
 nothing was dull.
 All the teachers are lovely,
 This is my life story.

Genesis Global school was where my PYP journey (First Year) began. I was in grade three. At the beginning, I was very shy and through the years, all my teachers always tried to make me feel comfortable. By learning to be positive, open-minded, and reflective, I developed a bit of confidence in myself and began to express myself to others. The activities we did in grade 4 (Second Year) of Genesis Global School, were awesome like we went out to the garden of our school and picked up some sticks and rocks to explore. Following fifth grade (Third Year), I acquired the skills of being mindful, and managing my time effectively. We made many posters about pollution, world problems, action pictures, and migration. I acquired new knowledge about percentages, migration, flower parts, cultural heritage, and much more. My journey throughout this year has been amazing!

I joined GGS in PYP four. I've been to three schools, and this one is the most unique because the teachers here use hands-on activities. They asked us to make brochures, videos, guidebooks, and even encourage us to take action by way of applying our learning. Blending in with the others was not easy for me. I used to face some difficulties in understanding the flow of PYP during the first few months. The best memory was my first MUN experience. I didn't know how to make speeches or participate in debates, but my teacher helped us understand everything. I presented my thoughts in front of everyone at MUN. On the final day, I hoped to get some recognition and to my surprise, I won a medal. Some were disappointed and some were happy, but I realized it's good to step out of one's comfort zone and try new things. Though I have been to three schools, this one is the most unique because this school gives equal opportunities to every single grade. So, this is my magnificent experience in IB PYP, and I hope it's the same and more in the MYP.

I joined school in grade 3 and the last two months were fun because we used to play board games very often. In grade 4, we did not play as much as grade 3 but I still loved it. In grade 5, I became more mature and a better communicator. Grade 5 and all the other PYP years have helped me a lot in building my confidence and other things as well. I love all my teachers - HRTs and all the other specialists. When I move to MYP or CBSE, I will never forget about my PYP experience.

My journey in the PYP was great, awesome, amazingly cool. These five golden years have left quite a deep mark in my heart and that mark will guide me throughout my life so that I can make correct decisions. That mark contains all my knowledge and all the fun the teachers have shared with me. If you think this knowledge includes the key concepts, SDGs and ATLs, you are correct. This is my last year and I shall cherish it. Best of luck to all for their journey.

I have set foot in this school every time as a PYP student, so it's overwhelming every time when I realize that I only have four months to go in my PYP journey. However, I can say with utmost confidence that this is a journey that I will never forget. PYP has taught me to be confident and face problems with my head held high. It has taught me to think critically and look at things with numerous perspectives. Grade 5 was particularly a very memorable year, as it gave me the opportunity to challenge my leadership skills by running for PYP head girl, (and becoming head girl). Overall, I feel PYP was a thrilling experience.

I have been in this school for 8 years, every year filled with joy and happiness. In my first few years I learned simple things. As years passed by, I learned things that I never knew. I miss my old teachers as I move to higher grades but I am meeting new teachers and making new friends. Now, when I am in the senior most class of the junior school; I feel happy about the things that I have learned and the memories I have made.

I love the primary years programme which has been filled with activities that will never be forgotten. I will never forget my teachers for teaching me valuable concepts and enhancing my skills. PYP felt like milliseconds and before I knew it was over. This programme helped me in developing the learner profile attributes, understanding the SDGs and everything I know. I will never forget anyone, and I hope no one will forget me!

'The Bugle'- 35

The Story Behind The Cover Pages

'To be or not to be', is one of William Shakespeare's works that celebrates the likelihood of human beings falling into the trap of celebrating a life or choosing death over it. It's a dilemma that has perplexed many in a lifetime and that highlights that life's choices are never fair. Students of PYP 4 in their innocence and naivety choose the most imaginative as well as true-to-life phrases/words. They choose the words that describe -what they wish to be or who they see themselves as. The courage, straightforwardness, and enthusiasm for living life are palpable when one goes through the collage of words that represent sheer love for life. As educators and mentors, we propagate and nurture these feelings to help them build resilience over dilemmas and strength over despair.

A quote that we use quite often to remind ourselves of the gift called life - 'Be - don't try to become. It's becoming that's the cause of all fears'.
