

October 2019 : Issue 21

Promising Futures

THE BUGLE

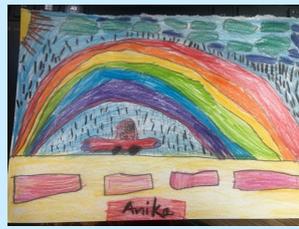

Editor in Chief - Ms. Alka Sarkar | Editor - Ms. Kumi Das
Hindi Editor - Ms Shivani Singh | Designer - Ms. Archana Gupta
Supported by Principal PYP and MYP

Picture Credits: Parthav Jindal 3E

RAIN

I love rain drops. I like to play in the rain. I also like to sit and watch the rain pouring down. After the rain, I like to look at the rainbow with its seven beautiful colours.

Anika Aggarwal 1 A

TREES ARE OUR LIFE

Trees are so green ,
they keep our environment clean
When everyday we breathe,
they give us a life to lead
They give us food to eat,
and a shelter to beat the heat,
If we cut trees,
The Earth will die,
If we grow trees,
our planet will survive

Viaan Maheshwari 2 A

CLEAN INDIA GREEN INDIA

We should clean our Country.
We should plant more trees.
We should not throw the waste on the road.
We should not cut the trees.
We should throw the garbage in the dustbin.
Sanitation is very important for a healthy living.
So lets take it as a mission.
Let's make our India green as well as clean.

Ridit Jain 2 B

A VISIT TO THE DESERT

It was a sunny day when Cindy and her friends were at Cindy's house. They had played every game and now they were getting bored. Suddenly an idea came to her mind that everybody should write a story on the picture of the hot air balloon , which was hanging on the wall .She told everybody about the idea. All her friends agreed.

As they were seeing the picture and thinking what to write, suddenly a magic key began to glow. It was true that they were in the hot air balloon. The hot air balloon took them to the desert. In the desert they saw camels, sheep etc. They also learnt that people in deserts wore loose fitting clothes and used tents and huts made of straw. Then the Magic key began to glow again and they came back to Cindy's house. When they reached back, Cindy's mother was worried because they had not told her where they were going. Cindy told her friends that this was the best visit they had ever had. A desert was a good place to visit.

Ishanvi Lakhotia 2 A

AMAZING FACTS ABOUT KEPLER 452B

Hey friends do you know about KEPLER 452B ?

It is Earth's older cousin and is about 1.5 billion years older than the Earth.

It is 60% bigger than the Earth and it is believed that it can support life. It may also have many active volcanoes.

You know, it takes around 385 days to complete one revolution around its parent star which is similar to Sun. The distance between the Earth and KEPLER 452B is 1400 light years.

Navansh Goel 2 B

RAIN WATER HARVESTING

Once upon a time there was a village where everyone lived happily. There was enough food for everyone. Ground water was used for growing food and for everyday requirements such as drinking, bathing and washing. When all the ground water gradually got over, the people living in the village were shocked and became sad. Everyone, including children were crying for water. Even the animals were thirsty and the situation became very serious. Suddenly they got a really good idea. The villagers decided to try out the harvesting of rain water so that they could all have enough water. This was a big success and once again the villagers lived happily with plenty of water to use.

The moral of the story is that we should use water wisely and at the same time realize the importance of

'Rain Water Harvesting'.

Sanvi Goel 2 C

GREEDY PIRATES IN MYSTERIOUS MARIANA

Once upon a time there was a ship, which was made in China. It was heading to Australia from Japan. It was a pirate ship. The pirates lost their way and started sailing over Mariana Trench where they saw a boat with lots of treasure in it. They attached the boat with their own ship. They were trying to pass through the Mariana Trench as a shortcut. But, suddenly a great storm arose and drifted the boat away. They sailed for weeks and reached a shore. The pirates noticed that the boat was lost. They, once again, went back to the Mariana Trench area, to get the boat back, where they found the same boat at the same spot. They attached the boat to their ship once again. They started sailing again towards the shore. Suddenly, it started thundering and both the ship and the boat got wrecked. They couldn't see any hope of survival. After trying hard to escape they finally drowned in the ocean.

The moral of the story is "Greed and shortcuts in life are bad."

Shivanc Trivedi 2 C

THE MAGICAL DREAMLAND

During the vacations, Raghav and his parents went to a Jungle Safari in Africa. He was very excited to listen to the chirping of birds, roaring of lions, see the deers running around and the feel the fresh air. While his parents were walking a few steps ahead, he suddenly came across a huge green giant tree. Raghav was fascinated by this tree. He went closer to the tree and saw a wide opening in it. He walked through the opening and to his surprise he found it was a Magical Dreamland! It was a new world filled with talking animals, chirping birds, beautiful candy trees and a big white majestic lion, who ruled the kingdom. Raghav hid behind a big rock made of chocolate. He was absolutely mesmerized.

When he realized that he had left his parents behind and that they may be looking for him, he came out of the tree only to find his mother crying out for him and his father calling his name again and again. As he ran and hugged his mother, he remembered that his father had taught him never to go anywhere alone. He finally understood what his parents had wanted to teach him, but at the same time he was also filled with the joy of having got a glimpse of his Magical Dreamland.

Ayaan Gupta 2 C

WHO IS BEAUTIFUL...?

Once upon a time, there were two beautiful fish. They lived in two different rivers. One day they met. The first fish told the other that she was very beautiful. When she looked into the mirror, she thought she was the most shiny fish in the world. The second fish felt hurt when she heard this as she had always thought that she was the most beautiful in the world because she was golden in colour. The two fish started quarrelling. They asked a tortoise passing by to tell them who was the more beautiful of the two. The tortoise praised their beauty, and said that it was actually he who was most beautiful because he had made both the fish happy by appreciating their beauty. The one who spreads happiness is always the most beautiful.

Shanaya Bhatia 2 C

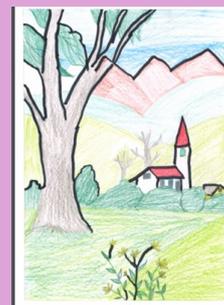

MY FAVOURITE LANDFORM

My favourite landform is Mountains. I love mountains because they are very tall and cool.

I like the snow covered peaks and the chilly air in the mountains. The highest mountain in the world is the Mount Everest. It is in the Himalayan range in Nepal. I wish to climb the Mount Everest one day.

Manan Karnani 2 D

MY MUSIC PERFORMANCE

I wanted to play my guitar to my friends one day. I was feeling nervous before the performance but when I started playing the guitar I felt good and my nervousness went away. After my performance was over, I was very happy but the best thing was that I was feeling like a Rockstar.

Vedaant Ravikar 2 D

THE WEATHER TODAY

It's a pleasant day, It's a Sunday,
Bright and sunny, calm and quiet,
Fun for all as it is a holiday.
It is a fine day, sunnier than any other day.

Smayra Goel 2 E

THE BRAVE KID

Once there was a boy whose name was Tom. He used to stay in London with his mother but because of some work issues they had to shift to China. Tom wasn't liking China because he could not make friends. Some kids teased him and beat him and some kids were his friends. Bad kids used to trouble him every day till one day a nice man named Chang came and saved him from those bad kids. Chang taught him karate so that he could save himself from any kind of trouble. Tom also participated in a karate competition in which those bad kids also participated. Tom had really worked hard during his training of karate. In the competition in spite of the bad kids using all the tricks to beat Tom, he managed to win the competition because he wanted to overcome his fear of those kids. Tom was a very brave and courageous child.

Sachit Aggarwal 2 E

SAVE NATURE

The trees are so tall and green,
Don't cut the trees !
Don't be so mean!
They give birds a nest,
And a place to rest,
They give us shade,
They are not man-made.
So let the forests grow larger and larger,
Let the animals grow bigger and bigger,
Please don't dig them with an enormous digger,
Let this captivating poem be inside you,
Don't pluck the pink flowers,
Let them be seen from the tip of your towers,
And let's pray heaven's give us more and more showers.

Samairah Bhasin 3 A

LETTER TO MOM

Dear Mom,

From the time I was born, you have been my world. You are my best friend. You gave me life. You taught me nice things. You fought for me, shouted at me and sometimes you kissed me and hugged me too. Most importantly, you gave me lot of unconditional love. I do not have words to thank you enough. You gave me strength.

I LOVE YOU MOM.

Kiara Jain 2 E

MOM IN MY LIFE

Mom is my happiness, when I am sad.

Mom is my judge, when I am guilty.

Mom is my consultant, When I am upset.

Mom is my strength, when I am afraid.

Mom is my life, when I am ill.

Mom is everything, in my life.

I love my mom very much.

Ahil Chowdhury 3 C

My LITTLE BROTHER ADDY CREATED A MESS

This morning my younger brother Addy tipped over a bowl of fruits, which I wanted to eat. I was very furious and I scolded him. Then he pulled my hair because I scolded him. I tried to chase him out of my room. In this process he knocked over my pen stand and all my colouring pens fell down on the floor. Then I reached my breaking point and shouted at him "get out of my room!" Abruptly, my mother came inside my room and saw the collection of muddy footprints that he had added on the white cushions. Addy was petrified and wasted no time in running to my grandmother's room and reached for her arms. He knew that only she could save him. So it was a funny moment for all of us. Everyone started laughing on the smartness of his little brain.

Mishka Jain 3 C

MY FIRST TRAIN TRIP

When I realised that my family was planning a trip to Mata Vaishno Devi temple, I was excited because this was going to be my first train trip. I could not sleep thinking about all the fun, my cousins and I were going to have on this trip. The train journey was amazing. I saw berths, food vendors and the crowded platforms. It looked like a carnival to me. When we arrived at the temple, I could only see big mountains everywhere and horses, helicopter and rope train. The temple was high up on a hill and we rode up the hill on horses. I rode up with my cousins. We visited the temple and offered our prayers. On the next day we did shopping in the local market. I also had my favourite mouth watering water balls. We had a nice time in the train while returning as well. My family and I took many memorable pictures of the most precious moments of our trip. I really can't wait to go for my next trip to some other wonderful place.

Viraj Gupta 3 D

WHAT IF I AM A SUPER HERO?

Having seen the entire Avenger series, and a few others, I'm like any kid of my generation, eager to be a Superhero - for life or else for just a little while!!!

I wish to have the ability to fly across the world in few minutes, go Invisible, fight an entire army with a 'Body Shield', go taller than the Burj or smaller than an ant, use my hammer that listens to no other, or just jump across the streets with my endless web, and also have my own distinct 'Body-Suit' to match up !

I wish to magically complete all my school work at the click of my fingers, and get the best grades. I desire to visit the Disneyland, Legoland, or Kiddieland every other day and find all my favourite cartoon books and characters flying to my shelf as I think of them. I have a desire to fly closer to the moon and see the beautiful Earth from the universe, and acquire all the knowledge of the world without even knowing; and better still, to know that I already am a swimming champion, something I dread in real life! My parents say there's so much of ill in the world and I could also work for some good causes if I get to become one.

As I think and think harder, my wish list is never ending. What if I could magically become a superhero ? If this is not possible, I'd keep to being a big fan of the Avengers and keep my hopes alive.

Shantanu Gupta 3 D

PAINTING

I chose to reproduce a painting made by a famous artist, in acrylics, for my school magazine, as it really attracted me. This painting known as, 'The Scream' was created by the famous Norwegian artist Edward Munch. It all started with two friends and Munch going on a nature walk. He observed that during the sunset, the sky suddenly turned as red as blood. It seemed as if nature was screaming out at him. He felt tired and shivered with fear. He remained at the same spot for some time while his two friends walked away. In his painting, the artist depicts what he had experienced on the bridge that day. In 1895, this painting was sold for US $ 120 million at an auction and was also known as, 'The Cry'.

Parthav Jindal 3 E

THE GIGGLING AND JIGGLING JELLY

It was my birthday! We had a big party and I had a blast with all my friends . After the party got over, I felt so exhilarated opening my gifts that I couldn't stop myself from tearing apart the wrappers! A friend of mine gifted me a jelly making set . As I proposed making jellies, Mom wanted to leave it for the next day. I went to bed. Then I realized that I have entered a whole new world made entirely of jellies! I could see jelly drop down to resemble waterfalls . There were rivers made of jelly shakes with jelly fish inside them. It was beautiful and totally mesmerizing world. I saw a big cave and entered it. As I entered the cave my first step was on a jelly road . As soon as I took my second step, I started to wiggle and jiggle as the whole road was made of jelly and it was bouncy. I felt very ticklish, and so I began to giggle away. After a while as I stopped giggling, I could still hear the giggling sound around me. I just couldn't believe my eyes when I found the jelly beneath my steps giggling away. Then the giggling stopped . As I took my third step, the giggling began again and it went on and on. After sometime when I looked at my night suit, I found that it too had converted into a jelly suit . On the other side of the road, I saw jelly dwarfs who started shooting jelly bullets on me, but my jelly suit was protecting me for the bullets bounced off my jelly suit and returned to the little shooters and they all ran away. Then when I giggled, I could hear the same jelly-giggling sound again and again. Suddenly when I heard the sound of the alarm ringing, I realized that it was all a dream fever. I woke up and went off to school as usual. The teacher announced to the class that we would be learning a new concept related to - Echo. After understanding the concept, I reflected upon my dream and having made some connections, realized that it was not really the jelly giggling, but it was the echoing sound of my very own voice! After returning home, I picked up the jelly making set and made plenty of jelly to share with my friends. I told them about my dream and how the jellies were jiggling and how I couldn't believe my own eyes and ears when the jelly seemed to be giggling after me.

Aarohi Gupta 3 E

WHAT I WANT FOR EVERY CHILD ON THIS EARTH

Every child on this Earth should get food to eat because no one can live without food. Instead of wasting, we should only take the food that we can finish. We may also think about sharing our food with the poor children around our houses. All the children on this Earth should get education so that they can grow up to become engineers, astronauts or doctors and earn some money for themselves. Every child on this Earth should have clothes to wear to keep them warm in winter. Clothes don't only help us in winter, but they help us in every season. Clothes help to protect our bodies from extreme environmental conditions. School uniforms make every child look smart and similar. Every child on this Earth should breathe fresh air to keep healthy. If they do not get fresh air then they will fall sick, and will not be able to breathe properly. Fresh air gives us oxygen which is necessary for staying alive. Every child on this Earth should get clean drinking water so that they don't catch diseases or fall ill. Every child on this Earth should have the freedom to express themselves.

'One child, one teacher, one pen and one book can change the world,' are the words spoken by Malala Yousafzai.

Aarna Khushwaha 4 A

TEACHERS

(Dedicated to all my teachers)
 I have a riddle that I want to ask you
 Do you know someone who inspires you?
 In the darkness they show us light
 They help us a lot and make our lives bright.
 We can seek support, no need to hide
 As we know that they are our best guide.
 I don't think you need another clue
 Just bring colourful papers and some glue.
 Teachers are the ones who show us the way
 It's time to celebrate Teachers' Day.
 Even if we change our class or leave our school
 We will cherish the learnings of our knowledge pool.
 We wish them success and good health
 Their blessings will give us happiness and wealth.

Ayan Azad 4 B

Editor's Note: This poem was written on the occasion of Teachers' Day

I DREAM FOR A BETTER INDIA

I dream for a Green, clean and peaceful India.
 Let's search for a solution,
 If there is any pollution.
 We should not throw waste here or there,
 So that it is always clean everywhere.
 We should plant a tree and it should be always for free.
 India should reach all the heights,
 Where all can have peaceful nights.
 India should be the best,
 Where everybody has a home to rest.
 It should be a corruption-free place,
 Where everyone can grow with good pace.
 So I request all to go clean and green,
 All for the sake of fulfilling their dreams.

Rishit Kanodia 4 B

THE THREE Rs

Refuse- Refuse to use plastic and refuse to buy unnecessary stuff.

Reduce- Reduce the pollution on mother Earth and reduce the wastage of water and electricity.

Reuse- Reuse paper, water for cleaning or for any other purpose. Donate clothes and other items we no longer require to charity.

Recycle- Do not throw scrap or waste, instead convert these into something useful.

If we make these 4 R's our priority, we can save the World (Our Mother Earth)

"We got the whole World in our hands"

Rabaan Singh Mehta 4 D

TENNIS

My sport is tennis
 I pick up my racquet
 Take off my jacket
 And curve my serve
 I hit a smash
 Make a big bash
 Tennis is my no. 1
 And I have lots of fun
 I never play terrible
 I never am horrible
 I play like a pro
 I never hit low
 I don't give up
 I don't back out
 I love my game
 Tennis is its name

Kabir Singh Kohli 4 D

TIA'S JOURNEY OF MIGRATION

Once there lived a girl named Tia with her mother named Rosy, her father named Rahul and little sister named Priya. They lived in India. They were very happy as a family. Tia and Priya went to school every day and were very happy in that school. On one fine day her father got a letter in which he got to know that he had got transferred to the United States of America as he was doing well in his job. Tia with her sister was sad as they had to leave their school, but they were also happy as they got a chance of going to the U.S.A for the first time in their lives. The next day Tia told all her friends that she and her sister are leaving the school. Then they started to make their Visas and finally when everyone got their Visa made, Tia went to school for the last day where all her friends gave her a farewell party and gave her gifts. Her mother's and father's friends and relatives came to wish them good luck. Their mother packed everything in two weeks and they were off to the U.S.A. On reaching there they stayed in their companies apartment and the initial problem of finding a new house was not there, but they had a time limit of six months to find their own house. Then after few days they finally found a house in Orlando, USA. They also found a school for their daughters. After initial difficulty Tia and her sister made new friends in their new school. They faced difficulty in food, climate and their accent. So firstly, they started to adapt to the climate and the second thing they also started learning English. Their mother Rosy had a good American accent and she soon got the job as a teacher. Their father Rahul joined his new office, though it was the same company for which he worked in India but the environment and people were new. Another thing was food, it was a new country, new soil and different fertilizers were being used. Tia and her family were trying to adjust to the taste and variety found in the U.S. Though it was very difficult for them but gradually they started developing a taste. Tia's father's colleagues were very helpful to them. Even their next door neighbours were very nice and helpful. Understanding the new currency (Dollar) was a difficult thing, but as it is the time of plastic money, it was an easy thing for them. Finally they adjusted and settled well.

Aadhya Wadhwa 5 A

OUR EARTH

Earth is the only planet which has life,
 And here people find it easy to survive.
 Earth has water, flowers and trees,
 It also has tigers, lions, butterflies and bees.
 Earth has trees like palm, oak and banyan,
 And they provide the Earth with its oxygen.
 No other planet has fresh air and water,
 One animal which enjoys life on Earth's waters is the Otter.
 Earth is the third planet away from the Sun,
 It gets enough of sunlight which is good for everyone.
 Blue planet is Earth's nickname,
 Because of the water bodies that came.
 We should keep the Earth clean
 Otherwise it will not remain
 green!

Gauri Oberoi 5 B

INDEPENDENCE DAY

Independence day is celebrated on 15th August each year and it is a national festival. It is celebrated to thank the freedom fighters who took great risks and the martyrs who sacrificed their lives for the independence of our country. We got freedom after 200 years of British occupation. On this day India's national flag is hoisted at the Red fort.

I am grateful to the freedom fighters such as Bhagat Singh, Tatyta Tope, Subhash Chandra Bose, Lala Lajpat Rai and many others who sacrificed their lives for our country. Leaders such as Mahatma Gandhi, Pt. Jawahar Lal Nehru were kept in jails for long durations of time and they faced immense hardship, yet they never gave up. Finally, India attained independence on 15th August, 1947.

On this festival, people wear tri-coloured clothes to match those of the Indian National Flag. Sweets are distributed and patriotic songs such as - Ae Mere Watan Ke Logo and Ye Desh Hai Veer Jawano ka along with a host of other songs are sung. This day is full of patriotism and joy.

JAI HIND!

Sara Jain 5 D

DREAMS

Dreams are the wonderful thoughts that come to us when we are asleep

Dreams are sweet

they give us peace

Dreams come true and fill our lives with happiness and joy.

Dreams are what we all have:

D is for - do hard work

R is for - run after them and never give up!

E is for - effort to achieve your dreams

A is for - aim to reach our dream

M is for - motivate yourself and others

S is for - success which is our destination

Sweet dreams!

Priyanshi Singhal 5 C

JOYS OF RACING

Racing is such a fun motorsport

It needs speed, power and beating,

Trainers show you how to race all the way

How to go faster each night and day,

A good mentor teaches you how to overtake

And lead the race by performing a slipstream.

He tells you that racing is not just about winning

Because what really matters is participating.

He teaches you how to be a sportsman!

He teaches you how to be a good human being

That's what he does, yes that's what he does.

When you finally retire from racing,

You can be a mentor to some young one .

That's when it hits you... that even though you love racing,

Seeing your student do well is the best part of your racing life!

That's the joy of racing and that's the best part of the story of your life!

Oh! the joy of racing! Oh! the joy of racing!

Rishi Kaul Grade 5 E

(This poem is inspired by the Movie- Cars 3)

MY REFLECTIONS

It was yet another day. Regular day of waking up to the worldly responsibilities. Regular day of facing the challenges that life throws at us. Regular day of carrying out the daily chores. Regular day of facing the ups and the downs. Regular day of being with the students of my class and school.

But still it had its own charm, and I was looking forward to it. I reached the bus stop and waited eagerly for the yellow bus to come and take me to my school. I saw it approaching the stop with new vibes. "Today is going to be special" I thought.

And I was right, as soon as I boarded the bus, it reverberated with excitement— "Happy Teachers Day!"

Students from every grade of the school wished together. Some kids, who had just started their learning journey, while others who would be completing theirs in few months, all wishing with the same jest. Some with loud and clear voices, while some struggling to even pronounce it correctly and say it confidently. All however had the same excitement and spirit of celebration. So the day was different after all. It was the 'Teachers' Day'. It was going to be different from other days. Different for students, as they got to express their gratitude to their mentors; while different for us teachers as we got to see a different side of our young learners. A side which was the result of all skills they developed through the year.

This year learners of Junior school Grade 4 and 5 took the ownership of preparing and presenting a special show for their mentors. They had been working on their own for days together. Each one of them giving their best and trying to keep it a secret from their class teachers.

As the show began, we mentors held our breath. What we were going to witness was indescribable. Proactive students along with the quieter ones set the stage on fire, with equal confidence. It was a treat to watch everyone showcasing great talent. It made our day. Each act was so beautifully put together, so well thought off and so well presented. There were times when we could not control our emotions. Students showed us the skills they had mastered within the classroom, and it was garnished with love.

Through the medium of this quarterly students' magazine, we mentors take the opportunity to thank each and every student of Junior School for all the love and affection shown today, both on stage and off it. Thank you for giving us an opportunity to mentor you. You showed us today that - YES, we are on the right path and need to continue doing our part to polish you and prepare you for the future. We love you and are proud of you.

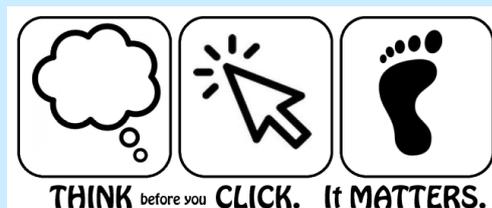

And yes , I was wrong. It was not a regular day. It turned out to be a very special day, which is now etched in my memory as an extra special day and I shall cherish it for years to come.

Smriti Sajjanhar

Mentor

DIGITAL CITIZENSHIP

The children that we are teaching today are not the ones who have to be taught about technology as they are the ones who are born with it. Technology it is said is both a boon and bane and so is the media. On the one hand we expect our children to be technically sound and up to date with the changing technology, on the other hand, we also fear that they should not be hooked onto any device.

We must draw boundaries for our children to understand how to deal with this huge amount of information that is available to them; to teach them how to say a safe online and also to respect others. Digital citizenship gives the students a clarity about safe internet usage. It also tells them the importance of acknowledgement of resource. One of the most important part of digital citizenship is crediting the resource. If our children are making use of any resource, (digital resource / print resource) they should be guided to acknowledge that at all times. This teaches them not only to be honest but also to appreciate what other people have done.

We must teach the children to be ethical, responsible and resilient. Today the media knows no boundaries, anything and everything gets spread in seconds. Though this spreads awareness instantly, yet if the person does not check / validate the media, it can lead to problems. We must educate our children to understand, to evaluate and analyse before they share any information on media. Social media has impacted the young children by getting them attracted to this virtual world. This not only takes them away from the physical activities like outdoor games but also so brings in loneliness. Many parents have reported that their children don't like to go outdoors. Young people today are more worried about the number of 'likes' on their photos than what are they going to have for dinner!

This strong impact of the social media makes it even more necessary to inculcate digital citizenship in the children of today so that they develop moral values. I feel both parents and teachers must come join hands to ensure that the children are aware of the terms like crediting resource, acknowledgment, copyright, email etiquettes and netiquettes etc. We should ensure that they are safe online because internet safety is equally important in the current scenario as their safety at home.

Chitra Sehgal

Mentor

MY FAMILY

My family is special and I will tell you the reason why,

We play, we work, we laugh and we cry.

We tease each other and we argue a lot,

We help each other and share what we've got.

We meet each other almost every week,

But the best reason is that our family...IS UNIQUE!

Yashita Dahiya Grade 5 E

मेरी माँ

मेरी माँ मुझे स्कूल भेजती,
हर छुट्टी में घुमाने ले जाती।
जब भी मैं शैतानी करता,
मुझे डाँटती और समझाती।
मेरी माँ नौकरी करती,
घर आकर काम भी करती।
मुझे पढ़ाती और समझाती,
मेरे साथ है हमेशा खेलती।
हर मुश्किल में साथ मेरा देती,
अगर हो लड़ाई या पढ़ाई।
मेरी माँ है सबसे प्यारी,
मुझे लगती है सबसे न्यारी।

अबीर वर्मा 5 ब

सुरक्षा के नियम

पाठशाला में शिक्षिका ने कक्षा- 1 के बच्चों से कहा- चलो ! आज सुरक्षा के नियम सीखते हैं।
जब कोई दरवाज़ा खोले या बंद करे तो अपनी उँगलियाँ वहाँ से दूर रखनी चाहिए।
सड़क के बीच में नहीं चलना चाहिए।
अनजान लोगों से बात नहीं करनी चाहिए।
बत्तियाँ देख कर सड़क पार करनी चाहिए।
आग डरावनी है, इससे दूर रहना चाहिए।
बच्चों को चाकू से नहीं खेलना चाहिए।

गौरिका भसीन 1ब

प्रकृति की रक्षा

धरती पर प्रकृति के अलग – अलग रूप हैं। कहीं पर घने वन हैं तो कहीं पर रेत के रेगिस्तान हैं। तरह – तरह के रंग – बिरंगे फूल हर किसी का मन मोह लेते हैं। वर्तमान में कई कारणों की वजह से प्रकृति का संतुलन गड़बड़ाया हुआ है। मनुष्य ने स्वार्थ में आकर प्रकृति को सबसे ज्यादा नुकसान पहुँचाया है। हमें इसकी रक्षा करनी चाहिए और प्रदूषण से इसे बचाना चाहिए।

आरव गुलाटी 4 द

दुलार प्यार व संस्कार देती है एक माँ,
जीवन रक्षा व सुरक्षा देती है प्रकृति माँ।
कुछ न माँगने पर भी सभी ज़रूरतें करती है पूरी,
भोजन पानी शुद्ध हवा का नहीं माँगती मोल कभी।
सदा देती जीवन दान,
सदा करती जीवन आसान।
परंतु अब समय है उसका कर्ज़ उतारने का,

प्रकृति

पानी व ईंधन बचाने का।
व्यर्थ न जाने देंगे हम इस प्रकृति के वरदान को,
आओ शपथ लेते हैं, बचाएँगे इसके सम्मान को।

पहल रोहतागी 5 स

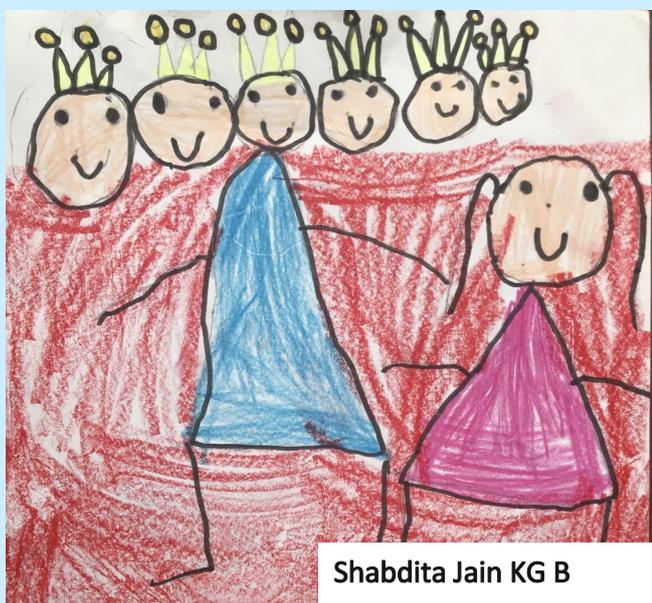

Artists at Genesis

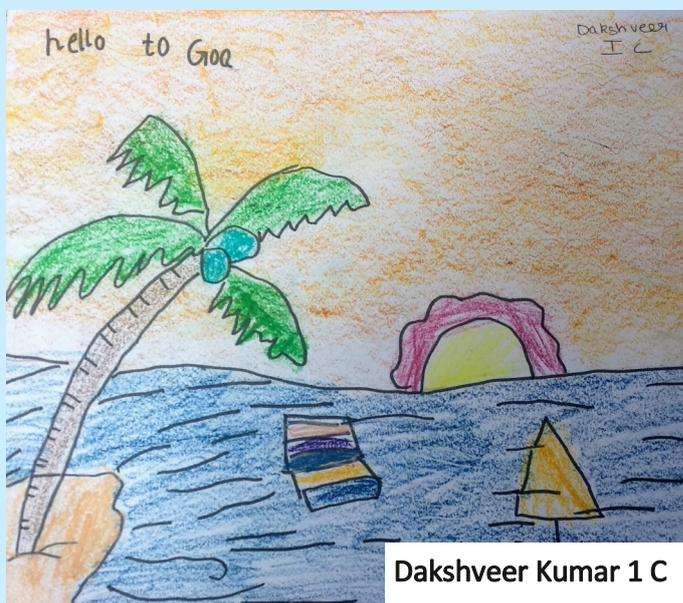

Shanaya Singh Nursery C

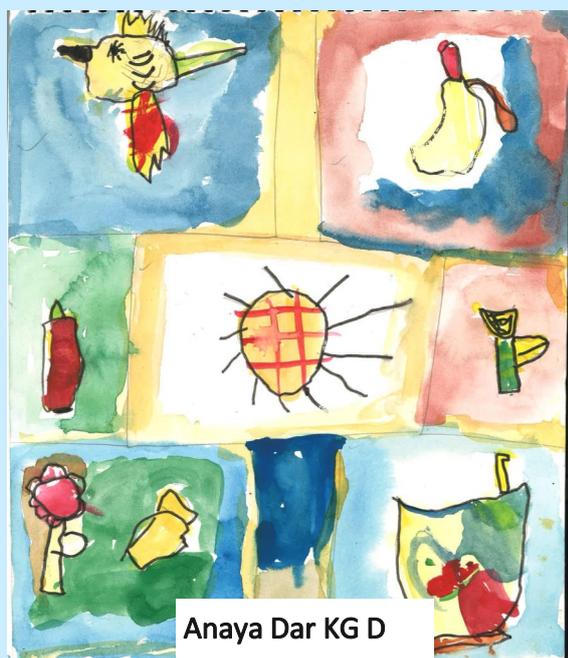

Aaditya Sinha Nursery A

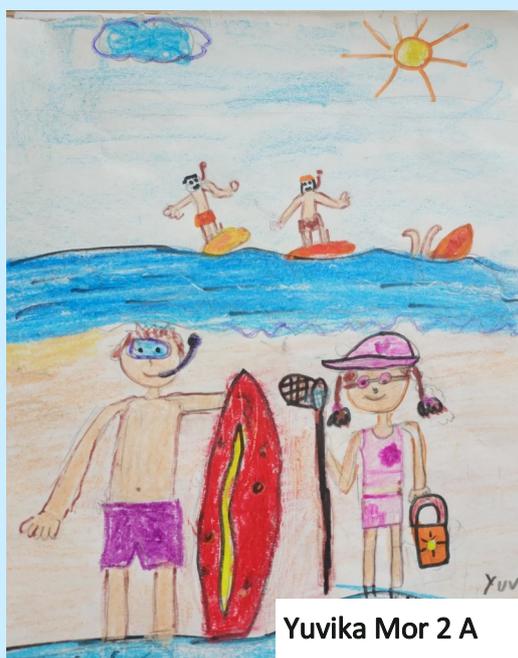

Shabdita Jain KG B

Dakshveer Kumar 1 C

Anaya Dar KG D

Yuvika Mor 2 A

Artists at Genesis

